

Please read through your event plan from last week.

What event have you chosen to focus on?

Think about how this will develop as creating your story map will be today's focus.

Look back over your work, are you happy that this will work as a clear guide and structure for your story?

Do the ideas flow together?
Do you know how you want to link them using description or adverbials?